Expert Literacy Mentoring for Educators

One-on-one mentoring for teachers and education professionals to support students with communication and/or literacy difficulties, dyslexia, dysgraphia, autism, DLD, and diverse learning needs.

Bring real student cases, and teaching challenges, and work directly with an experienced literacy and language specialist to:

- Analyse individual learning needs and student profiles.
- Discuss complex cases and develop practical support strategies.
- Develop targeted, evidence-informed literacy & communication plans.
- Explore structured literacy and the Orton-Gillingham Language Approach.
- Strengthen reading, spelling and written language skills.
- Develop language and comprehension.
- Support speech, language and comprehension development.

Why Mentoring?

Our mentors bring extensive experience in literacy, dyslexia, language and communication, supporting both individuals and groups across educational settings.

With expertise in speech pathology, education and the Orton-Gillingham Language Approach, our team provides practical, evidence-informed mentoring tailored to each educator's needs.

Mentoring can include case analysis, student-specific literacy planning, intervention strategies and professional reflection, helping educators turn specialist knowledge into confident, practical action.
